COSTA RICA

Costa Rica is called the "Rich Coast". Volcanoes, rivers, forests, and hundreds of beaches are some of the country's natural attractions. It is a land blessed by nature with an enormous variety of plant life and fauna. 4.7% of the world's biodiversity can be found in the 19,730 square miles that make up the country.

Exuberant nature, pristine beaches, active volcanoes, contrasting landscapes, impressive places of scenic beauty, biological diversity. This is Costa Rica. It is a land blessed by nature with an enormous variety of plant life and fauna. Costa Ricans are very proud of their country's natural resources and are committed to their preservation. That is why almost 30% of the national territory is protected as national wildlife refuges. This is a destination where nature can be enjoyed comfortably, since the country has kept a balance between the comforts requested by tourists and the ecological and adventure tourism.

100% TOURIST AND INVESTOR FRIENDLY

Guanacaste (North Pacific region) is the area that has seen the largest real estate growth in recent years. The region boasts its own international airport, an average temperature of 82°, beautiful beaches, high-class residential developments and hotels, golf courses, polo fields and overwhelming natural beauty. Four Seasons, Reserva Conchal, One and Only Resorts, St. Regis, JW Marriott, Hyatt Regency, Westin, and Regent Resorts...have all selected Guanacaste as their Costa Rica location! Plans for the construction of marinas with public boat access are already underway. These marinas will include, among many amenities, beachfront boardwalks and boulevards, shopping centers and new access roads. It is safe to assume that property values in the area will increase dramatically over a short period of time.

2.5 HOURS AWAY FROM MIAMI

Just a few hours away by plane from the United States, Costa Rica is a preferred destination for those in search for a second home and lifetime memories. Tourism has grown exponentially in the last five years with over 1.73 million tourists visiting the country per year. 48% of all tourists come from the USA and 16% from Europe.

Roughly 1200 passengers use the international airport in Liberia each day. The airport features 42 weekly non-stop flights from the U.S., with direct service to/from Miami, Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles, Denver, New York/JFK, and Minneapolis...in addition to various other international points.

Moreover, preliminary numbers show that the country will receive, between October 2007 and April of 2008, more than 230 cruises.

15 MILES FROM THE AIRPORT

180Blue is located in a private and secluded point surrounded by nature and directly on the Pacific Ocean. Just fifteen miles from the international airport, 180Blue offers you more time to relax and enjoy Costa Rica's national parks, wildlife refuges, volcanoes, as well as the country's beautiful beaches!

82° F AVERAGE TEMPERATURE

Guanacaste's weather can be divided into two basic seasons: The Gold Season and the Green Season.

From November to May, the sky is full of sun and ocean breezes whip the air. With very little rainfall, the landscape is rich in yellow hues contrasted by the deep blue of the ocean.

On the other hand, during the months of May to November, a typical day will have a sunny morning and rain in the afternoon. This tropical time replenishes the countryside, and creates breath-taking fresh green scenery. There is no risk of hurricanes along this coastline

400% ADDED VALUE

Costa Rica's natural beauty, privileged climate, leadership in ecotourism, a stable and predictable economy, centenary democratic tradition, competitive workforce, and legal warranties have fueled a real estate boom that has caught the attention of tourists and savvy investors worldwide. Property owners have experienced a significant increase in the value of their investments.

"The New York Times recently reported."

"LOTS THAT WERE $50,000
ARE NOW $500,000.
THERE AREN'T A LOT OF
PROPERTIES LEFT THAT HAVEN'T QUADRUPLED
IN VALUE IN THE LAST
3 YEARS".

Buying a property at 180Blue is a solid investment. You will own a piece of paradise, in an luxurious exclusive condominium project.
